FOREWORD

NEWS RESEARCHERS were introduced to Facts on File's new method of multi-annual indexing of news for quick reference about a year before this volume was published.

We created the FIVE-YEAR INDEX in compiling the one that covers the years 1951-1955 and which will be found in most libraries where this new index, for the period 1946-1950, will be added to the expanding row of Facts on File Yearbooks.

As soon as the first FIVE-YEAR INDEX appeared, its great usefulness to persons searching for old news in editorial, public, educational, business, government and other reference libraries was demonstrated conclusively, with the result that Facts on File was urged to extend FIVE-YEAR INDEX coverage backward through the preceeding years, 1946-1950.

In its purpose, form and uses, this index corresponds to the highly successful 1951-1955 volume: a compilation of annual Facts on File Index sections that guide researchers immediately to news facts recorded in Facts on File and, by supplying exact dates and descriptions of events, make it possible to pinpoint news accounts in the unindexed files of newspapers and other publications.

For further explanation of the FIVE-YEAR INDEX, we refer to our comment in the foreword of the 1951-1955 volume, adding only a word of appreciation for the encouragement we received to add this 1946-1950 master index to the Facts on File news reference library.

How to Use the Five-Year Index

INDEXING METHODS--A reference in the Facts on File News Index supplies (I) identification of the news item, (2) the date on which it occurred, and (3) the exact page location where it has been recorded in the news text of a volume of Facts on File.

Large letters appearing in the margins of news pages serve as guides to the exact location of news items.

News is indexed in Facts on File both by subject (Accidents, Agriculture, Atomic Energy, etc.) and by the names of individuals and organizations involved. Index headings are arranged alphabetically. Reference lines under the headings appear in chronological order.

For an example of a reference from Index to news text, note on p. 2 of this Five-Year Index the first reference line in the column headed "1948" (the year 1948) under the heading ACCIDENTS:

Natl Council on 1947 2-4, 60M

"2-4," or February 4, 1948, is the date of the report. "60" is the page on which details will be found in the news section of the Facts on File volume covering 1948 (Vol. VIII). "M" indicates that the item appears parallel to a large letter "M" found in the margin on p. 60.

REFERENCE TO OTHER PUBLICATIONS--The dates of events as indexed by Facts on File supply the key to research of a news item in the files of un-indexed newspapers and news periodicals. In the example cited above, the report on accidents in the U. S. during 1947 would be found in a newspaper containing news of February 4, 1948--an afternoon newspaper of that date, or a morning newspaper of the following day.

ABBREVIATIONS--Standard abbreviations for public and private organizations and the names and titles of individuals are used in the alphabetical name and subject headings throughout the Index.

INTERNATIONAL & U. S. AGENCIES--Most references will be found under UNITED NATIONS and UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, respectively. See also alphabetical indexing under key words such as AMERICAN, NATIONAL, INTERNATIONAL, WORLD.
